

Coates Way School – Religious Education Progression Map

At Coates Way School we aim to teach religious education with a clear progression of substantive, disciplinary and personal knowledge. Each unit builds on conceptual knowledge, worldview specific knowledge and vocabulary from previous units both within that year group and from previous years. The sequencing of units allows children to develop schemas through connections with prior learning. This approach focuses on religion and worldviews as personal and diverse. It aims to reflect the changing nature of religion and worldviews in modern Britain and help children to understand that religion and worldviews are a lived experience for people and communities. This will then enable children to become increasingly reflective about their own worldview and how it is influenced.

In EYFS, R.E. is non-statutory but children must have opportunities to achieve their Early Learning Goals. To achieve their learning goal, understanding the world, we encourage that children discover some religious words and ideas in the context of their experiences. Children will: share their own beliefs, ideas and values and listen to and reflect on those of others in the class. They will listen and respond to a range of stories and artefacts that engage them, including faith stories, fables, some prayers, reflections and wise sayings.
